Introduction

Generali Insurance Asset Management S.p.A. Società di gestione del risparmio (GIAM) - as responsible investor - is deeply committed to promoting sustainability in investee issuers through proxy voting and engagement.

The last year has shown unprecedented investor commitment to ESG concerns and experts predict further strong pressure on climate action, while key pillars of COVID-19 recovery strategies, including worker rights, pressure on pay and diversity are also likely to be in the spotlight. Audit quality and dividends are also to be a focus for investors.

That's why it will be crucial that companies prepare suitably for their AGM, and identifying contentious issues in the first place and proactive shareholder engagement will be the key to avoiding investor dissent.

Moreover, as regulators and investors respond to ever growing concerns about the impact of sustainability issues on business, boards and their organisations are likely to face ever more demands for information.

Among the most significant engagement trends that have emerged in 2021 is "Say on Climate" resolutions and the push towards for real world impact in sustainable finance.

"Say on Climate", on the one hand, enables to the whole investor base and the proponing issuer to have a global view on the acceptance of the suggested climate strategy. On the other hand, it is difficult to evaluate a strategy with a black and white feedback, the interpretation of the results is not trivial (does a "No" means 'not enough" or "too much"), and it poses some issues to board accountability principles. The Exxon AGM, were we participated, has been an important milestone at this regard. The success of this investor led board member election campaign is the confirmation that shareholders are increasingly interested in board members with an energy transition profile. In addition, it opens a new avenue of dialogue with issuers on the profile of their board members and could answer the need expressed by investors to have their "say on climate".

Moreover, all over the world, in 2021, we have seen many investors, investors associations, consultants, influencers, regulators advocate and stand for more real-world impact. While in private markets, the impact of sustainable finance seems easier to measure, on listed market, this is another challenge. Most actors recognize here the added value of engagement. However, among all "impact criteria" additionality is the most difficult: how to demonstrate that there is a difference before and after the interactions with the issuer?

As the 2022 AGM season gets underway, investment managers will focus on these many challenges, aiming at generating more and more real-world impact, and, as usual, at being their views heard on a wide range of issues.

*Generally speaking, « Say on Climate » is a type of resolution where shareholders are asked to give their opinion on the climate strategy of the issuer

2.5 Focus on ESG shareholder's resolutions

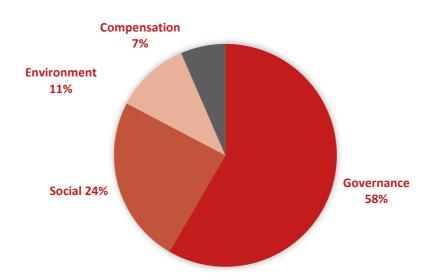

The integration of ESG topics into issuer's practice is something that is continuing to evolve representing a way for companies to interact with the wider society.

Boards need to be aware of human rights' issues or other social themes, and to have an appreciation of environmental impact of their activities and how to address them.

In this context we consider votes on shareholders' proposals as an effective way to suggest the need for a change in policies, disclosures or related ESG aspects of a company's business.

In this section are presented data related to key shareholders' proposals on ESG issues supported (185 in total).

2.6 Most Significant Votes

In this section, we highlight the Most Significant Votes performed this year, consistently with the approach adopted in 2020.

Relevance criteria for "Most Significant Votes"

In selecting "Most Significant Votes", GIAM considers relevant the opposition to management proposal related to core principles of GIAM's Engagement Policy and international best practices. This highlights how GIAM's approach is aimed at enhancing Corporate Governance best practices within its investee companies. These principles underlying the selection of the most significant votes, were among the most recurring and material for Shareholders' agenda.

• Time Commitment of directors

An excessive number of external directorships could have a negative impact on the quality of the board decision process. To ensure that board members have and dedicate enough time, to perform their functions and responsibilities to protect shareholders' interest and have sufficient availability to deal with unexpected circumstances (such as acquisitions, mergers, takeover or a crisis), we did not support the election of directors due to an excessive time commitment.

• Length of long-term performance period for compensation

To ensure that remuneration plan are able to reflect Company's overall health, avoiding to remunerate executives for temporary spikes in performances and in order to align the executives' remuneration with the shareholders long-term interest, we oppose to remuneration resolution not having a performance period of at least three years.

Anti-takeover mechanisms

GIAM believes that a good performance and a developed dialogue with its shareholders are the best ways for a company to react against a takeover. Moreover, takeover bids may represent also a valid solution to create long-term value or to ensure an effective accountability of the management towards shareholders. As such GIAM opposed to the strengthening of anti-takeover mechanisms as they are, in principle, detrimental to shareholders interest.

Full list of "Most Significant Votes" is available in the Annex II attached to this document.

2.7 Voting activities in the ESG integration process

GIAM as an asset manager, believes in active ownership and in engagement as factors contributing to risk mitigation and value creation for its clients and investors and defines the pillars leading its engagement and monitoring behaviour vis-à-vis investee issuers relating to the collective and individual portfolios it manages. GIAM believes the vote in Annual General Meetings (AGMs) to be an essential tool in the path to maximise the value creation over the long term.

Voting process is based on all public available information, providers' analyses (e.g. Proxy Advisors, Brokers) and GIAM assessment framework. The latter is built to fully integrate the internal stakeholders' feedback into the voting decision process and aimed to take full advantage of internal resources and intelligence in order to boost best stewardship practices in the investee companies.

After the AGM, issuer's profile is update with all the material information evaluated during the voting process, e.g. remuneration practice, board composition, internal controls, M&A, ESG issues, and shared with internal teams.

2.8 Voting advisory services

Voting recommendation are based on the relevant GIAM policies and guidelines, integrating the GIAM ESG principles, relying on a dedicated internal voting specialists' team in charge of analyzing and rating companies through a deep and extensive governance analysis.

GIAM Active Ownership team is in charge of issuing voting recommendations, as well as of the performance of the instrumental activities to the exercise of the voting rights in compliance with the criteria set out by the applicable voting policies and guidelines.

Proxy voting research is provided by Glass Lewis, which provides also the availability of the electronic proxy voting platform. In addition, we integrate the research with portfolio managers and engagement specialists' inputs that we use to supplement our analysis and assessment on the whole perimeter.

Engagement

3.1 Approach

In general, Engagement is considered by GIAM as a constructive dialogue with different goals: to reinforce the understanding of the investee companies, to share the concerns on ESG and finally making actionable suggestions aimed to resolve potential ESG issues.

The meetings with the company executives and directors are aimed to share a long-term orientation, with a constructive and results-oriented approach, and at understanding how companies have transformed their operating model to embed ESG principles across their organization.

In addition, when relevant, the cooperation with other investors who share the same concerns could take place in order to maximize the impact on the company engaged.

Further information about the engagement approach can be found in the Engagement Policy, available online

3.2 Engagement process

GIAM Engagement Committee, which takes place on a quarterly basis, is the body in which are defined the priorities related to the engagement activities.

Engagement Case

Each Engagement Case presented to the GIAM Engagement Committee is composed of different elements: risk identified, questions, suggestions, task force creation, strategy, status & results.

Engagement Execution

GIAM Active Ownership team is in charge for the engagement execution activities, including internal working group briefing, investee issuer interaction, assessment of the information provided by the investee issuer, issuance of recommendation, reporting.

During the execution, GIAM Active Ownership team reports to the GIAM Engagement Committee the ongoing actions and informs it about the external elements that could impact the Engagement Cases.

Engagement Monitoring

GIAM Engagement Committee evaluates the status of each Engagement Case presented depending on the initial goals defined.

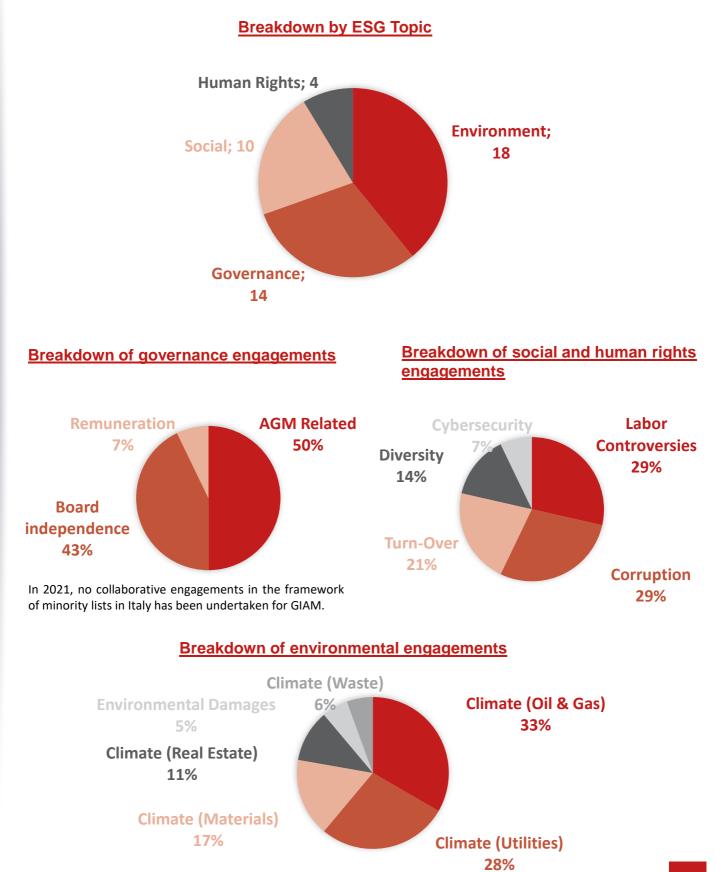

Further information about the Engagement process can be found in the Engagement Policy, available online
